Ford Motor Company values you as a customer and we also value our commitment to vehicle quality and the environment. We are therefore voluntarily recalling certain 2001 Mercury Cougar vehicles with 2.0L Zetec engines and manual transaxles. Your vehicle may be releasing air pollutants that exceed California emission standards.

What is the emission concern?

Affected vehicles were built with a Powertrain Control Module that contains On Board Diagnostic II (OBDII) system strategy that does not meet certain California Air Resource Board (CARB) misfire monitoring requirements.

What Ford Motor Company and your dealer will do...

At no cost to you, your dealer will reprogram the Powertrain Control Module (PCM) with a revised calibration, according to the instructions provided by Ford. This service should have no effect on your vehicle except to improve the misfire monitor.

If you do not have this service done:

- Your emissions warranty may be reduced
- Your vehicle may not pass emissions or smog test that are required in your area.
- Your state Department of Motor Vehicles may not renew your vehicle's registration.

How long will it take?

The time needed for this repair is less than one-half day. However, due to service scheduling issues, your dealer may need your vehicle for a longer period of time.

What we are asking you to do…

When you bring your vehicle in, show the dealer this letter. If you misplace this letter, your dealer will still do the work, free of charge.

When this recall repair is completed by your dealer, you will receive a Vehicle Emission Recall Proof of Correction certificate. Please make sure that you receive a certificate from your dealer and that you have it with you when you renew your vehicle registration.

It is also important for you to know that the certificate should be returned to the Department of Motor Vehicles (DVM) only if it is requested by the DMV. Otherwise, this certificate is to be held by you for your records.
